

Jennifer Mariano

Jennifer is CHP's Director of Programs. She has served in the nonprofit sector for over 20 years and has a passion for helping people, planning, collaborating, and bringing organizations together to solve complex problems, which makes CHP a perfect place for her to work and practice her passion.

Prior to joining CHP in 2018, Jennifer spent eight years at Care and Share Food Bank as the Programs Director, where she oversaw nine different programs and served as a Disaster Capacity Advisor for Feeding America, deploying to several large national disasters, and working with food banks across the United States to create continuity of operations plans to build capacity for disaster response. Prior to that, she worked for the American Red Cross, Pikes Peak Chapter for six years as the Disaster Services Director and then Community Relations Director, where she deployed on several local and statewide disasters and helped to build the capacity of the Chapter to respond to disasters. Jennifer holds a BS from the University of Maryland in Management Studies.
