

Ashlee Shields

Ashlee is CHP's Suicide Prevention Project Manager, Teller County. As a Colorado native, Ashlee has been a fierce advocate for marginalized communities at the system, organizational, and client level, for over 13 years. Prior to her role at CHP, Ashlee collaborated with community leaders to facilitate system-level change in a rural community and addressed gaps and barriers in programming for youth involved in multiple systems. Through strengths-based partnership and collaboration, Ashlee is committed to reducing the stigma of getting support for mental health and is dedicated to further empowering the marginalized communities (i.e. LGBTQIA+) in Teller County.

Ashlee holds a BA in Psychology and Sociology and is a Positive Youth Development (PYD) & Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACES) Master Trainer.
